

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN MISERABLE FLUKE

Republicans Have Failed to Gain Confidence of People of the State.

THE TENTH DISTRICT SAFE

Campaign Orators Have Made No Impression on the Democratic Voters.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
LOVINGSTON, VA., October 9.—Democratic leaders in Richmond and elsewhere throughout the State may possess the same in peace concerning the outcome of the November election in the Tenth Congressional District, for careful investigation reveals facts upon which it may be safely predicted that no county or city in this winding shoe-string territory stretching from West Virginia to the Prince Edward line, will be found in the Republican column when the votes are counted, unless it shall be Alleghany or Highland, both of which have proved to be rather erratic with reference to politics in recent years.

The same may be said of all the counties and cities in the great Piedmont section, which stretches across the entire State, from Maryland to North Carolina, with the possible exception of Patrick and Henry, they being usually looked upon as close and doubtful.

Stronger Than His Party.
In 1906 Governor Swanson carried all the counties and cities in this vast territory now under consideration, with the single exception of Highland, which he lost to his Republican opponent by seven votes. But down in Patrick and Henry it is pretty generally understood that the Governor is stronger than his party, for in frequent elections in recent years, when he was not on the ticket, they have shown a leaning toward the other side. In the coming election Henry will probably go Democratic, and Patrick Republican, though there will be only a slight difference between the vote for Mann and Kent in either case.

The vote for the Democratic nominees for the House of Delegates in the Tenth Congressional District will be about the same as that cast for the State ticket, and practically solid delegations from both for the dominant party may be safely counted upon. In the present House, Patrick is represented by a straight Democrat, and Henry by a straight Republican. Both are striving earnestly to send Democrats this year, and they may succeed, though the result may be safely set down as doubtful.

A full list of the Democratic nominees who will almost certainly be elected to the House from Piedmont and the Tenth District is as follows: Loudoun, Dr. B. F. Noland; Fauquier, J. M. Price; Fauquier and Loudoun, John Orr Daniel; Culpeper, Judge Alden Bell; Rappahannock, (to which Page, a county not in the Piedmont section, is attached), W. J. Browning; Madison and Greene, John C. Utz; Orange, Colonel G. C. Tallferro; Albemarle and the city of Charlottesville, Dr. Thomas M. Dunn and D. H. Pitts; Nelson, George W. Whitehead; Amherst, Dr. H. S. Myers; Bedford, Captain Thomas S. West and R. G. Turpin; Franklin, Judge John P. Lee; Alleghany and Craig, N. E. Spensard; Augusta and the city of Staunton, J. F. Templeton and J. R. Kemper; Bath, Highland, Buena Vista and Rockbridge, J. W. Stephenson; Buckingham and Cumberland, Paul McKee; Appomattox, Captain Thomas J. Stratton; Botetourt, Judge G. W. Breckenridge; Fluvanna (to which Gooseland, not in the Tenth District, is attached), S. M. Shepherd; Rockbridge and Buena Vista, Hugh A. White.

Means Heavy Majority.
This list furnishes a pretty fair nucleus for a healthy Democratic caucus in Richmond next winter, and if other sections will do as well there will be no doubt of an overwhelming majority for the dominant party in the coming Legislature. With the Senate already elected, and composed of thirty-four Democrats to six Republicans, it looks as if the relative strength of the two parties on joint ballot will not be materially changed from what it was at the last session. It then having stood: Democrats, 119; Republicans, 21. The Democrats will surely gain one member from the district composed of the counties of Fluvanna and Gooseland, which was represented at the last session by John G. Luce, Republican. The district is safely Democratic, and the election of Mr. Luce was altogether due to a split among the leaders of

BABIES BENEFIT BY NEW SKIN DISCOVERY

Stops Itching Immediately, Soothes and Comforts the Little Ones.
A demonstration of the efficacy and entire harmlessness of Poslam, the new skin discovery, is afforded when it is applied to the tender skin of infants who are tormented with rashes, chaffs, scaly and crusty humors and other skin aggravations. Its effect is soothing, the itching stops at once, the skin heals and is quickly restored to normal condition.

In the various forms of skin troubles in both infants and adults Poslam produces beneficial results from the first application. Eczema, acne, herpes, rash, tetter, etc., yield readily to its remarkable curative properties. Occasional applications will quickly banish pimples, blotches and complexion blemishes and will relieve and cure itching feet, scaly scalp, humors, etc. Poslam can be had for fifty cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly Tragle's, who make a special of it, or the Emergency Laboratory, 22 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is subject to show results in twenty-four hours.

the dominant party in the two counties. There may be some other slight switching from one side to the other, but in the end the figures obtaining at the last session will not be materially altered.

Have Reason for Their Faith.
There are many reasons why no considerable portion of this great and prosperous section of Virginia will be found in the Republican column after the votes are counted on November 2. The first is that it is Democratic, and has been, for the most part, since the white people came into their own, following the strenuous days of Reconstruction.

Another is that a vast majority of the voters here in the mountains look upon the Democratic ticket as being superior, from many points of view, to that named by the Republicans; they seem to appreciate the fact that the party in power has shown itself highly capable of giving them a clean and honest administration of their affairs, and that the Republicans, in the swash-buckling campaign they are making, have neither established a single charge they have brought against the Democrats, nor offered a substantial remedy for any of the evils which they intimate have cursed the State under Democratic rule.

Fear the Searchlight.
Again, there is an impression in this section of the State which, in the light of recent events, seems well founded, that the Republican orators are not anxious to place their contentions and arguments under the searchlight of a Democratic adversary in joint debate, and this has naturally created the impression that they are not fully satisfied that their cause is so entwined with justice, that it would stand a chance if disputed of eliciting the sympathy and support of their auditors. One hears much criticism, for example, of the treatment accorded the Democratic side recently at Christiansburg, when after Congressman Glass had agreed to meet the Republican speakers single-handed and alone on any reasonable terms, they not only declined, but called their crowd out of the building to hear another Republican on the court green, although the Democratic contingent had listened to their candidate for Governor for nearly two hours.

It is true that Mr. Glass is widely known as a very dangerous competitor on the stump, but there are many conservative men in this community who are of opinion that the results would have been more favorable to the Republicans at Christiansburg had their speakers stood up and taken a good drubbing from the Democratic Congressman rather than dodge a debate, and then call for a division of the crowd just as the Democrats were opening their meeting, and after their speakers had given attention to the speakers put forward by the Republicans.

Hurt Their Own Cause.
Real Virginians crave a square deal for all men, whether in business or in politics, and it is the general opinion of those in this section of the State who keep abreast of public affairs that Captain Kent and his associates lost a day by making their appearance at Monticony court.
Then came a meeting later at Charlottesville, with Mr. Glass representing the Democrats, and Captain P. H. McCaull the Republicans. Every one who knows of Captain McCaull knows that he is one of the ablest debaters, if not the very ablest, in the ranks of the Republican party in Virginia, and there are those who believe that had he considered that he had a good case he would not have declined to meet Mr. Glass at Charlottesville, and simply replied: "At some other time and place I will meet you." To this Mr. Glass answered that his next appointment was for Amherst, though there is no assurance that the assistant postmaster of the Hill City will be there.

Only once in this entire section have the voters had the pleasure of hearing a joint debate on the issues of the pending campaign, and that was here in Lovingston, September 27, when Congressman Flood and State Senator Aubrey D. Strode appeared for the Democrats, and Colonel S. Brown Allen and Captain Frank P. Brent, for the Republicans.

Made Poor Showing.
It was altogether a one-sided debate, for the Democrats had the better of it from start to finish. It is fair to assume that the arguments made in favor of the Republican ticket by Messrs. Allen and Brent are practically those advanced by Captain Kent and other Republican speakers in the campaign, for political parties usually see that there is concerted action on the part of their speakers when they are sent out on the stump to plead for votes. If this be true, then the Republican campaign in Virginia this year has already failed to the ground. These distinguished speakers—utterly among the ablest in their party—utterly filled, according to the judgment of a vast majority of their hearers, to make out any sort of case against the Democrats, and when their competitors came back at them they lost much of the vigor and spirit with which they had entered the controversy. They dwelt first upon national questions, striving vainly to saddle upon the Democracy of Virginia every issue for which Bryan has contended since 1896, and when Mr. Flood drove them from this position by reminding them that this is a State fight, in which questions relating to the campaign of 1896 are not involved, they switched to some indefinite insinuations concerning extravagance in the conduct of State affairs.

Careful About Charges.
No direct charges or specifications were submitted, but the speeches of both Colonel Allen and Captain Brent abounded in glittering generalities, which might be calculated to catch the unwary if they failed to hear the other side. When pressed to the wall on the subject of extravagance, Colonel Allen admitted that he would not abolish any office in the State save that of Insurance Commissioner, and Mr. Flood showed that this is supported entirely by the insurance companies. Colonel Allen tried to stir up trouble among the Tucker people in the county by telling them that the Valley candidate had been unfairly defeated, but this effort fell flat, and was met by the cheer for Judge Mann, in which the Tucker followers joined most heartily.

Captain Brent confined his criticism of the Democratic party mainly to the public school system, charging that there had been excessive extravagance under the present administration. Mr. Flood retorted that the difference in the cost of running the department now and under Mr. Brent's administration was not equal to the amount McGilvray had gotten through the school register scandal, for which he was promptly dismissed from the service. He also reminded the former secretary of the board that under the latter's administration the public school system of Virginia ranked thirty-fourth among all the States of the Union, and that now it has risen to the eighteenth place. "Keep Brent out of that office four years more," he exclaimed, "and Virginia will rank first on the list."

This is about the sum and substance of the Republican contentions as set out here in Nelson, and if they are not doing better elsewhere in the State the general belief in this section is that they will cut but a sorry figure at the November election.

S.S.S. PURIFIES BAD BLOOD

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once; but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S.S.S. is Nature's blood-purifier and tonic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. S.S.S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, and all other skin eruptions or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.
